The Round-up

The Second Day finds good selection still available. The Round-up is always the big event of the season.

Still Some of The Suits and Overcoats

Important because they are Saks garments right out of the regular stock—reduced from the prices which they had been marked all along—and that establishes their actual value.

Some Young Men's—some Conservative models among them—but all the season's desirable designs and patterns.

$23.75

Formerly selling up to $55.00

Still Some of the Shirts—

We can state very positively these are $2 Shirts. That is the price for which they were made to sell the season just closing—and you will readily agree. Woven Madras and Percalé—plenty of sizes in most every pattern—from 13½ to 17.

WINTER PASTIMES—

AMUSEMENTS

ever known recommends "The Unpardonable Sin" as an effort which is well worth seeing.

KNICKERBOCKER.
"Cousin Kate," the delightful four-act play by Hubert Henry Davies, which was started by Charles Frohman at the Empire Theater, New York, with Ethel Barrymore as the adorable Kate Curtis, and has been one of the play delights ever since, has been made into a handsome photoplay by Vitagraph, with Alice Joyce in Miss Barrymore's role. This photoplay was shown yesterday at Crandall's Knickerbocker Theater for the first time in Washington, and attracted unusually large audiences. It will be shown today and tomorrow. It is a simple, charming romance, and its admirers will find the story has lost nothing by its translation to the screen. A Hal Roach comedy, featuring the Vanity Fair Girls, news pictures and musical embellishment add to the program.

CRANDALL'S.
"Love, Honor and Obey," Eugene Walters' well known play, in photoplay form, from Charles Neville Buck's novel, "The Tyranny of Weakness," was shown yesterday, and will be the attraction at Crandall's Theater today and tomorrow. When Stuart Emmett is named as co-respondent in a divorce suit, it numbs the heart of Constance Williams, and, according to her father's wishes, she marries instead a crafty New Englander, who makes her life miserable. From this point the story becomes one of deep interest and effective climaxes. "Ain't Love Grand?" a comedy, and minor films, with pipe organ accompaniment, complete the program.

"THE BAIT."
In "The Bait," which opened for a four-day run at Moore's Garden Theater yesterday, with Hope Hampton, the Texas beauty, who leaped into the water overnight, in the leading role, Maurice Tourneur has evolved a thrilling melodrama, which carries an intensely interesting love story throughout. It concerns an innocent girl, "framed" by a master crook and forced to flee the country for a crime she did not commit. Miss Hampton gives an excellent performance from the moment she is "trapped" until she is delivered from her persecutor by his death at the hands of a fellow thief. The acting of Jack McCloud, in the role of Barton, the crook, also is excellent. The picture is a Paramount production adapted from the stage play by Sidney Toler. Special features include "Sandwiches" and the Fox News, Orchestral numbers by the Garden Orchestra add to the pleasure of the program.

"WHILE NEW YORK SLEEPS."
"While New York Sleeps," now in its second week's run at the Criterion, is a typical New York photodrama, featuring the night life in the great metropolis. One of the big features is the reproduction of the entire dancing number from the Ziegfeld Midnight Frolic.

OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY.

Rev. John J. Thompkins, missionary and lecturer, will deliver an illustrated talk on the "Far Philippines," at the quarterly meeting of the Catholic Women's Literary Guild, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, in the lower auditorium of Gonzaga College. The Guild is observing its seventeenth anniversary. It was organized in 1904 by Rev. Edward X. Fink, then president of Gonzaga College. It is now under the direction of Rev. J. Charles Davey, vice president of Gonzaga. The society engaged actively in war work during the war period.

WANTS NAME CHANGED.

Rudolph C. L. Hackmeister, his wife, Isabelle L. Hackmeister, and an adopted daughter, Margaret Elise Hackmeister, today applied to the District Supreme Court for permission to change their names to Ralph C. Masters, Mabelle L. Masters and Margaret E. Masters. The petitioners say the name is difficult of pronunciation, and that the daughter and another child whom the husband intends to adopt, is now a member of the household, are annoyed by the school

THE CONGENIAL BANK, CORNER 9th and G

Said Mr. Micawber—
"ANNUAL income, twenty pounds. Annual expenditures, nineteen six. Result, happiness." "Annual income, twenty pounds. Annual expenditures, twenty pounds, naught and six. Result, misery. The blossom is blighted, the leaf is withered, the god of day goes down upon the dreary scene, and in short you are floored forever, as I am."

Is there anywhere a stronger thrill appeal than this expressed by this character of Dickens?

SOCIETY'S WORK O. K.'D

I. O. O. F. Committee Passes Favorably on Prisoners' Relief. A favorable report on the efficiency, business standing and methods of the Prisoners' Relief Society, of 509 E street, has been returned to the officers and members of the Noble and Ancient Order of the Nobles, I. O. O. F., by a committee appointed to investigate this organization. Regarding the efficiency, the report said: "We endorse the work of said society as being efficiently and economically conducted in the past and to date—especially during its habit in this city."

port the business standing of said society as being sound at this time." A firm of public accountants and auditors of this city made an examination of the books prior to July 15 and found only a few errors of transcription, it was reported. The committee report was signed by Charles W. Fitts, L. L. Godbold and John Hammon.

HELD SERVICES AT JAIL.
More than fifty members of the men's Wesley Bible class of Mount Pleasant M. E. Church participated in religious services conducted at the District Jail yesterday afternoon. Several selections were rendered by the class quartet and instrumental numbers by others assisted in making the program a particularly interesting one.
